CLASS SONG OF 1893.

Nellie Lloyd.
Class Song of 1893.

I.
The Class of '93
Ever joyous, light and free,
A chain has been linking together
Of pearls pure and white
From the Giver of the light
And our chain shall reach from shore to shore.

II.
'Mong birds, bees and flowers
We've found through many hours
The pearl so rare in its beauty—
That what's done unto the least
Brings of joy such a feast,
And the heart ever grows in its beauty.

Chorus:—
Oh, come join our ring
And joyfully sing
While flowers their fragrance are bringing;
For love and unity
Our song shall ever be,
And our chain shall reach from shore to shore.

III.
All Trades we have seen,
And the workers so serene
Have given us a pearl fair and pure,
And Five Knights with plumes so white showed us courage to do right
And we'll fight to save the pearl of our country.

IV.
We've roamed through many lands
And played on shining sands,
The wind has tossed us on the oceans wide;
While we've sat at Dante's feet,
List'd to Homer's song so sweet,
And Shakespeare has told us his story.

Chorus

V.
Herodotus of old
Brought riches untold
And freedom to our chain is like gold,
Like the sunshine so bright,
All sparkling with pure light,
Ever floats its rainbow before us.

VI.
The moon and stars above
Have shone forth their love
And sung songs of peace, sweet peace,
And now let us sing
And forever let is ring
Love's old sweet song we love so well.

Chorus
